█████ is one of the happiest dogs I have ever met. Ever day is the best day of his life. He is a snuggly pup, always wanted t on top of or in contact with me. The best way that I can describe █████ is aggressively happy. You will always know when I excited about something or seeing someone because his entire body wags, not just his tail. That's the whole reason he on has a nub now. He gives aggressive kisses. The only thing gentle about █████ is how he acts with children, but he is in no mean or dangerous. He just doesn't know his own strength. █████ is always ready to go on the next adventure. He does ge bored shopping and will whine some but is great doing other stationary things like watching movies or sitting in the office during the day. He tends to be more focused in busier environments.
